Now the machine sermon. The only ceremony at the funeral of a school teacher in an Austrian village was the rendition by a talking machine of the hymn "Eine Feste Burg" as sung by a chorus of male voices. The incident gave an enterprising firm an idea. They now according to a circular which has been distributed in the rural districts are prepared to furnish for funerals & at appropriate music either the last of choirs. Our large department stores as well as strictly religious people in discussing this topic say a Vienna paper says that the machine sermon has already been introduced and in conjunction with the machine music will make old methods useless. The talker in his sermon says the humorous "This at least these good points—it is so short and the machine does not wear."

We thank our customers for their patience with us last Saturday. We did our best. Our room is small and our customers came in such large numbers that we could not give each customer the care deserved. We sold $174.74 cash Saturday. We are putting on more clerks and hope to be able to take better care of our customers from now on. Our cash sales are running more than $600 per week, average over $500 per day. WE BUY IN CARLOAD lots, we buy for LESS; we do not deliver; we save the expense of keeping up TEAMS and AUTOMOBILES; we do not credit. WE LOSE NOTHING. Why should a farmer pay for delivering goods to those in the city? or why should those who pay cash pay the debts of those who do not pay?

We have closed a deal for 16 car loads of all good flour as ever came to Tulsa. We got this flour at WHOLE-SALE PRICES, or as cheap as any WHOLESALE house in Tulsa can buy same. We are COMPELLED to take a car of this flour every ten days. We will sell RETAIL as cheap as many merchants can buy WHOLESALE. We guarantee every sack to be STRICTLY first-class and to give PERFECT satisfaction or your money back. WE BUY FOR LESS—WE SELL FOR LESS. We bought more than a carload of BEANS, therefore we can make a low price. We also bought 2 carloads of TOMATOES and 2 carloads of CANNED CORN. We bought EIGHT and we can sell RETAIL as cheap as some are now PAYING. We also have 200 bags sugar in carloads less. We buy sugar in carloads less. We bought a special deal on PIE PEACHES. They are STRICTLY first-class and our prices are right. Why pay OTHERS more when you can buy from TRADERS for LESS.

We will confess that we do not KNOW what to do with our CLOTHING and SHOES.

We have as GOOD clothing as others and we are offering it to CLOSE out at only about HALF price, but our GROCERY business has grown so LARGE that our customers will not look at our clothing. It is your loss if you do not see this clothing.

We handle the STAR BRAND shoes. Our prices are right. Many people will not LOOK at them and go to other places and pay more money for NO BETTER.

We are glad to see our clothing and ours our prices are right. Please look if not satisfied.

We try to give the man with TIME the same consideration as the man with a DOLLAR—A SQUARE DEAL TO ALL.

REALLY A GREWSOME AFFAIR

Englishman Narrates a somewhat Unpleasant Experience While Rhinoceros Hunting.

In the Nairobi club I met a gentleman with one arm gone at the shoulder. He told his story in a slightly bored and drawling voice, picking his words very carefully, and evidently most occupied with neither understanding nor overstating the case. It seems he had been out, and had killed some sort of a buck while his men were occupied with this he strolled on alone to see what he could find. He found a rhinoceros that charged viciously, and into which he impaled his gun.

"When I came to," he said, "it was just coming on dusk, and the lions were beginning to grumble. My arm was completely crushed, and I was badly bruised and knocked about. As near as I could remember I was fully ten miles from camp. A circle of vulture birds stood all about me not more than ten feet away and a great many vultures were flapping over me and fighting in the air. These last were so close that I could feel the wind from their wings. I was half dead with pain and exhaustion, and I was bleeding profusely. The lions had come with an eye of fatality to me. It was really gresome!"

Steward Edward White, in American Magazine.

OF COURSE NOT.

"Why, he even imprinted a kiss upon my lips."

"But that kind of printing doesn't show."

IN TRAINING.

"Father, I have cut down your favorite cherry tree," announced a modern youth.

"That's a good start toward the presidency, my son. Fine basis for an anecdote. Now, what's the next step?"

"I hardly know. Shall I split it into rails, or work it up into golf clubs?"

PUZZLE.

"I was in a quandary this morning when Jinks told me he wanted assistance, as his wife was getting very light-headed."

"Why were you puzzled?"

"Because I didn't know whether she needed a doctor or a hair specialist."

SADLY SORDID.

"I suppose you agree that reform is necessary."

"Oh, yes," replied the political boss. "Reformers including a whole lot of legislation that is going to be us practical guys know as the amount some people are willing to pay for the privilege of enacting it."

ADMIRER OF LINCOLN.

Mrs. Kawler—well, my little man, I suppose you are going to follow in your father's footsteps when you grow up.

Bobbie—No, I'm not. I'm going to be a detective and follow in other people's footsteps.

GOT BACK AT HER.

What is a Voter? A custom ruling relates that a voter is anyone who has voted. At any time a voter took some miles into the country to vote upon some construction work there, and upon the completion of the contract brought the miles back to town. The custom which required upon the paying duty, but the contractor claimed free entry for the miles as articles of American growth returned without being advanced in value. The officials declared, however, that the board of assessors had assessed them, that miles are not articles. What, then, are they? If they are persons, they are certainly natural to come back home. Since the decision that a hen is not a bird, the customs service has in its natural history carefully and accurately classified.

An editor of a New York magazine recently received a story of which the scene was laid in the state of Washington. He wished to have the story illustrated, and in order to obtain the best local artist he sent the manuscript to a young artist in Washington. Before he sent in how ever, he seemed to have lost the name of the first page, the address of the writer which did not otherwise appear on the manuscript. It was "Seattle, Wash." With the story the editor sent a letter asking the artist to make a wash drawing of a certain scene and for him to use it as a model. By some miscalculation the editor received the drawing from the artist, saying, "I note that you seem to use a wash drawing and not a pencil sketch. Please do not do this again." The artist, however, did not understand the meaning of the word "wash" and sent another drawing.

CURIOS BITS OF HISTORY

A GREAT CORSICAN PATRIOT.

By A. W. MACY.

Napoleon was not the only great man born on the Island of Corsica. Pasquale Paoli, one of the great patriots of history, was a Corsican. For more than two and a half centuries Corsica had been under the control of the Genoese. In 1768, under the leadership of Paoli, she threw off the Genoese yoke. For fourteen years thereafter Paoli administered the affairs of the island, and did it wisely and well. He brought about many reforms, and encouraged commerce and the arts. In 1769, having "purchased" the island from the Genoese, France landed an army of 22,000 soldiers. Paoli with a few thousand Corsicans met them boldly, but was badly defeated. With his little army reduced to 537 men and surrounded by 4,000 French, he cut his way out and escaped to England. The French conquered the island, but at a cost of more than 10,000 men, nearly half of whom were killed. Paoli remained in England twenty years. At the outbreak of the French Revolution he returned to Corsica and became military governor. He soon broke with the French, however, and returned to England, where he died in 1807. Eighty years afterward his ashes were removed to Corsica and entombed with great honors. Lamartine, the eminent French writer, said: "Corsica remains still in the place of a mere province, but Paoli assumes his place among the ranks of great men."
